Daily Thought.

"The evil men do lives along with them and at their expense."

THE MAN FOR GOVERNOR.

It is not too early for the Republicans to be considering a candidate for governor to oppose State Auditor Hager. The selection of a candidate next year is a matter of more than ordinary concern to the party and to the people of Kentucky this time. Democracy will enter the contest exhausted from a bitter factional fight. The primary struggle was one for existence. The administration won, and now those, who can not make terms of peace, are nonentities unless they can defeat the administration at the election. The normal Democratic majority in Kentucky may easily be overcome under such circumstances, provided the Republican party presents a solid front. To do this and carry the entire party vote, a candidate for governor must be named, who will meet with the approval of all the leaders and the rank and file of the party. Good men there are aplenty, but the most of them bear the scars of other battles, and have earned the envy of their co-workers. No doubt the convention will be able to choose from several available, but just now we are certain of but one man, who measures up to all requirements for an ideal candidate, an excellent executive and a brilliant leader, and at the same time is free from the impediment of factional alliance. That man is Judge James Breathitt, of Hopkinsville. He has no superior at the bar of west Kentucky, and as an orator he probably has no peer in all the state. He is a man of the people, and has proved his campaigning qualities in his race for circuit judge. Furthermore, Judge Breathitt has not been an office seeker, and is not now asking for the nomination for governor. It is said by his intimates that he has agreed privately to stand for the nomination, if the party wants him. As to the character of race he will make, the people of western Kentucky feel confident. Leaders in this end of the state should not be slow in declaring their choice for the office, before a few embryonic booms now dotting the horizon reach any dimensions.

Dr. Harris Kelly, coroner of Jefferson county, may have good reasons for his action in refusing to permit Anna Ely to testify before the coroner's jury, in the Ely murder case, but we can not see how the ends of justice could be defeated by giving the coroner's jury a fair opportunity to investigate the whole case, nor do we understand by what right they were refused. The girl was kept in jail under the espionage of the matron, to whom she confessed. She was taken from her place of subsequent concealment to the grand jury room, and whisked away to a place unknown in a closed carriage, and now rumors are afloat that she told a different tale before the inquisitorial body. The police may fear the influence of the father on the girl, but they are reflecting on the reliability of her testimony by their conduct.

Instead of going into vaudeville, Count Boni ought to get a position as private tutor to Andrew Carnegie. He might in time build up an institution for the education of deserving multi-millionaires who want to die poor.

Can't hope to please everybody, of course; but those people who are complaining that they couldn't sleep last night because are lamps have been placed in the streets near their homes, will get used to it after awhile.

Caruso, the tenor, who was arrested in New York for attempting to flirt with a married woman in the monkey house in Central park, no doubt was only following the precept: "When in Rome, do as the Romans do."

Well, the dealers in umbrellas and overshoes are making money, and there is a good tide on the river, which is still running by instead of through Paducah. So the situation is not entirely hopeless.

An ambitious youth in St. Louis shot himself when he learned he could not sing. Some brute told him or he never would have found it out.

REFORM, MR. HEARST.

Why not reform yourself, Mr. Hearst? In all friendliness, we believe it would pay you in the end. You will never be president of the United States. So why not drop that ambition, and all political ambition, and try to do a little good—not showy, self-advertising good, but genuine, moral, lasting good? Why not do one act of beneficence with no advertising tag attached? You are to die some time. In the twenty years which perhaps remain why not use your wealth, ability, and newspapers to influence this land toward charitableness and honor? Do not call Judge Parker a cockroach. Tell him kindly what you do not like. Do not say McKinley is a despised and a hated politician, Roosevelt a loose-tongued demagogue, tax-dodger, and servant of the devil, Cleveland a living crime, and Hay a guy. Such a spirit is not Christian. Give some men credit, sometimes, besides yourself, for ordinary human virtue. Try to see to it that the trunks of murderers less often contain collections of your papers. Teach love. Rely on truth. Don't cry "Ryan!" at everybody who opposes you, whether it be Mr. Murphy one month or Mr. Hughes another. Don't lie about men to beat them. Beat them, if they deserve defeat, by no weapon but the truth. Ask Mr. Brisbane to try this principle even in such little matters as printing an old photograph, with smoke added for the San Francisco fire, or one and the same photograph, in different pages of the very same issue, to represent a clergyman in Pittsburg and a bogus baron in New York. Although contempt for truth may be worse in larger matters, it is better not to instill it insidiously even in detail. Try giving up the crude excitement-at-any-price mode of life, and see what you can do for your country along lines that are consistent with the Ninth commandment, the Golden Rule and the Sermon on the Mount. Just so far as you seek personal advantage for yourself will your power for service be diminished. You have shown greater ability to learn than some of the men in your employ. Here's wishing you a better and more truly useful life.—From Collier's for November 17, 1906.

It's almost as easy to achieve foolishness as it is to be born foolish.

The straight and narrow path isn't wide enough for crooked people.

Quite a number of the fixed stars show up on the American flag.

He who lives for self, and self alone, is a successful failure.

MINISTERS BACK FROM CONFERENCE

Presiding Elder Pleased With The Prospects.

Twenty-two Pastors in District Under Dr. Blackard—Stewards Called Together.

QUARTERLY MEETING DATES

The Rev. J. W. Blackard, D. D., the Rev. T. J. Newell, D. D., the Rev. T. J. Owen and the Rev. J. W. Wardlow reached home yesterday afternoon from Ripley, Tenn., where they had been attending the annual session of the Memphis conference. They expressed themselves as having had a delightful session of the conference and that Ripley's hospitality was unbounded, each preacher and delegate feeling he had the best home in the conference.

Dr. Blackard, who is returned for his second year as presiding elder of the Paducah district, when asked by a reporter for The Sun as to the outlook for the new year in the district and its personnel, expressed himself as "delighted with each of the 22 preachers secured to man the Paducah district this conference year. They are all faithful and successful workers and we are planning for a great year for Methodism in the district this year."

The Paducah district is second to none in the conference. The new preachers coming into it this year are: Dr. W. T. Bolling, Revs. G. W. Banks, G. W. Evans, J. T. Hunter, T. P. Ramsey, W. J. Naylor, E. A. Tucker all strong men and successful preachers.

The men going out of the district are: T. J. Newell, W. W. Armstrong, J. W. Wardlow, C. D. Hillard, R. W. Newsom, W. P. Hamilton.

These are all true and good men and carry with them the love and esteem of the presiding elder and the people they have served in their respective charges.

Stewards to Meet.

Dr. Blackard has called the district stewards to meet in Broadway Methodist church Friday at 10 o'clock. The trustees of the district parsonage are called to meet at the district parsonage Friday at 10 a. m.

Paducah Ministers.

Dr. W. T. Bolling is expected to arrive in Paducah Saturday to fill his pulpit on Sunday, but will not be able to move his family before next week. Dr. Newell and his family expect to leave the latter part of this week for their new home, Brownsville, Tenn.

The press telegrams from the conference at Ripley stated that Dr. J. W. Blackard, presiding elder of the Paducah district, was selected to preach the sermon on Sunday afternoon immediately preceding the ordination of elders. This is always an especial honor. Bishop Duncan preached the morning sermon.

The Rev. J. H. Evans, who last year had the charge of Greenfield, Tenn., where the Rev. W. W. Armstrong goes, was granted a superannuated relation at his own request. Dr. Evans is 73 years of age and has been preaching without interruption for 50 years right in this conference. He was a pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, Paducah, some thirty years ago, and he and his wife have a number of friends here.

The Rev. W. P. Hamilton, who had the Woodville circuit last year and was at Third street, Paducah, several years ago, was given the Millington charge in the Memphis district.

Quarterly Meetings.

Following is the assignment of quarterly meetings for the first quarter:

Reedland circuit, at Reedland December 1 and 2; Third street, December 2 and 3; Long Oak, at Massac, December 8 and 9; Lovelaceville, at Owen's Chapel, December 10; Mayfield, December 16 and 17; Broadway, December 22 and 23; Briensburg, at Gilbertville, December 29 and 30; Trimble street, December 30 and 31; Mayfield, at Wright's, January 6 and 7; Sedalia, at Payne's, January 6 and 7; Farmington, at Farmington, January 9; Oak Level, at Symsonia, January 12 and 13; Clinton at Salem, January 19 and 20; Clinton Station, January 20; Spring Hill, at Shiloh, January 21; Millburn at Sharon, January 23; Bardwell Station, January 24 and 25; Arlington, at Berkley, January 26 and 27; Barlow and Wickliffe, at Wickliffe, January 27 and 28; La Center at La Center, February 2 and 3; Woodville, at Bandana, February 3 and 4.

and that section will have a twenty-minute schedule. At this time of the year the traffic on that part of the line is light, and the same number of cars operated in the summer cannot be operated now except at a loss. We, of course, must try to operate all the lines at a profit, and if we did run a full schedule there now in order to make both ends meet, the service would have to be curtailed at another point.

"In the gas and electric lighting plants and otherwise on the street railway system we have not experienced any great trouble with the bad weather, though continued rains probably will affect us."

Traction Lines O. K.

The Paducah Traction company reports little damage. The only places where the track is bad are where new tracks have been built and the settling is so slight that no material inconvenience is felt. The fill tracks on Caldwell street sank three inches but cars still run over them.

Fill Shipping.

The constant rains settled the new Caldwell street fill and this morning it broke and the edges slipped down more than a foot. A big crack threatens to widen and slide half the fill on each side away. Street department laborers are reinforcing props to hold the dirt in place.

Loss to City $500.

Street Inspector Alonzo Elliott estimates the damage done to the streets by the rains to be $500. All the fills have been injured.

The principal inconvenience has resulted from the stopping up of the sewer from Harahan's addition. This sewer empties into Bradshaw creek. The water being unable to run off through the sewer has flooded Twelfth street and Monroe street so that the residents in that neighborhood have to wade through eight inches of water to reach high ground.

Relief for Rheumatism.

These damp days are hard on people afflicted with rheumatism, and relief is sought in all sorts of remedies.

There is no doubt in the minds of people who have suffered with the dread disease and those who have studied it closely that probably more relief can be secured from the Osteopathic treatment than any other.

Of course, some chronic cases won't yield to any treatment, but instances of cases of seven and eight years' standing yielding to three months' treatment can be cited. If you are suffering from rheumatism, I should like to discuss your case with you, examine you and tell you what I can do for you. With the dry hot air treatment that I use with osteopathy I am having very gratifying success with people you know well.

Dr. G. R. Froage, 516 Broadway, Phone 1447.

GIVEN CAMPBELL

DIED SUDDENLY IN ST. LOUIS
LAST NIGHT.

Well Known Member of Bar, Confederate Veteran and Prominent Citizen—His Family.

Hon. Given Campbell, one of the widest known attorneys and politicians in this section of the country, died in St. Louis at 8 o'clock last night, the result of an operation a few months ago. News of his death reached Paducah in a telegram to his brother, Hon. James Campbell, Sr. He was born in Salem, Ky., 71 years ago, and studied law under his father, an attorney of great reputation. He served in the Confederate army during the Civil war and when over came to Paducah. After a few years residence here he moved to St. Louis, where he took up the practice of law. He was identified with some of the biggest political moves in Missouri, but did not personally seek office. He was a power in his party and was closely identified with municipal officers in St. Louis.

Several years ago he retired and came to Paducah to spend the remainder of his life. He purchased the Noble property in Arcadia and built a handsome house. He has since been dividing his time between Paducah and St. Louis. When he left St. Louis for Paducah the bar in St. Louis to show its appreciation, tendered him one of the biggest banquets ever given in St. Louis.

He was a man of means. He owned property in St. Louis and real estate here. He was owner of the Campbell building at Fifth street and Broadway.

He was operated on several months ago. The operation was a success and the patient was about to leave for Florida when he was taken suddenly ill after apparently recovering from the operation. Death came quickly.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Albert Evans, of St. Louis, and two sons, the latter one a prominent physician in St. Louis. Dr. Given Campbell, Jr., and the other, James Campbell, Jr., an attorney in St. Louis. He is survived by his brother Judge James Campbell, of this city, and his sisters, Mesdames Mary Alexander, Florence Moequet and David M. Flournoy, Sr., sisters.

Mr. James Campbell, Sr., left this morning for St. Louis to make arrangements for the funeral. The relatives here have not heard whether he will be buried in Paducah or St. Louis.

Married in Hotel.

Mr. Robert Steele and Miss Berdie Doores, both prominent young people of luka, were married this afternoon at 1 o'clock in the parlors of the New Richmond House by the Rev. J. R. Nelson, of Big Sandy, Tenn. They were accompanied here by Mr. John Johnson and Miss Nannie Savage, of luka.

the rains on the new roadbed between Paducah and Cairo. North of the Ohio via Brookport, the I. C. reports no damage so far.

Switchmen Half Swimming.

The south yard office sat on an island last night and part of the morning. Switching was hampered and switchmen waded in water nearly up to their knees.

Pay Train Delayed.

Employees on the Louisville division of the Illinois Central road know how to appreciate "Old Mother Hubbard's" predicament when she made her famous visit to the empty cupboard. They have been delayed in receiving their pay because of the tied up condition of the road in the south holding the pay car.

This morning at 6 o'clock the I. C. pay car came to Paducah from the south four days late. It was tied up with other trains south of the Ohio and for nearly a week employees east of Paducah have been patiently awaiting the car's arrival. Trainmaster L. E. McCabe went up the division on the pay car to inspect the Paducah district. Little damage has been done on his district, and he is taking precautions against a possible washout.

Track Walkers Out.

The Illinois Central has in its employ an extra force of track walkers on constant duty. They are put to work in shifts in districts, where washouts are possible, to keep a close watch on the road bed and report any defect noted. This will entail a great expense on the road but the precaution is necessary.

Eight Work Trains Out.

Eight work trains with augmented crews are at work on the N. C. & St. L. road today repairing damage done by the heavy rains. Two trains are working between Lexington and Wildersville, Tenn., and six between Lexington and Summerville, Tenn. Chief Dispatcher Harry Johnston stated at noon that only work trains are on the division. The damage done by rains before last night had been partly repaired, but last night all the repairs made were washed out again. The road hopes to be running trains regularly tomorrow.

H. C. Hollins Says

Real estate values all over the United States have increased thirty-three and five-tenths per cent from 1904 to 1905. That's over eight per cent a year, you know. Paducah, which has nearly doubled in population in the last seven years, is certainly in line for this big increase. See Hollins, the real estate and insurance man, and get in on the ground floor. 127 is his telephone number. H. C. Hollins, Telephone building.

Put Up, or Shut Up.

Minneapolis, Nov. 21.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor was today told on the floor of the convention by a woman delegate that it was time for it to "put up or shut up" on the question of organizing women workers.

It is safer to do business with a crippled mule than an unloaded gun.
